

National Hispanic Heritage Month makes September beautiful!

During this month, we celebrate the Hispanic and Latinx American communities and honor the countless ways their members make the world a more beautiful place!

An illustration of a young woman with dark hair, wearing a blue jacket with pink floral patterns and a pink crop top. She is holding a large orange megaphone to her mouth and has her right fist raised in the air.

Xiye Batista
is a climate justice activist and co-founder of the youth-led organization Re-Earth Initiative.

An illustration of a young woman with short brown hair, wearing a yellow short-sleeved button-down shirt and blue pants. She is pointing her right index finger upwards.

Jessica Govea
Jessica Govea was a labor activist who taught others how to fight for the rights of Latinx people who work on farms.

An illustration of a young woman with long dark hair, wearing a green jacket over a light green shirt. She is holding a white sign that says "WE RISE" in purple letters.

Xiuhtezcatl Martinez is an environmental activist. When he was 15, he gave a speech at the United Nations General Assembly in English, Spanish, and Nahuatl, his native language.

An illustration of a young man with short dark hair, wearing a light blue t-shirt with the word "HOPE" in large blue letters, where the 'O' is replaced by the flag of Puerto Rico. He has his right fist raised.

Salvador Gómez-Colón is a climate activist and humanitarian. He created Light and Hope for Puerto Rico in 2017, raising nearly $200,000 for families devastated by Hurricane Maria.